Profitable Investments.

The safest and most profitable investment that can anywhere be found at this time for money, the use of which is not needed for a few years, is in the purchase of well selected real estate. This general fact probably no intelligent man would dispute, though some men deny the application to particular cases when it does not suit their interests. It is well recognized that real estate falls faster, as a rule, and further when times are good, than any other kind of property of real and solid value. The intrinsic value changes only with the growth of a community or State, or the improvement of means of communication; so that for production or use in residence or in commerce the value may increase rapidly and greatly, but can decrease slowly and moderately. But the price, on the contrary, depends upon a market that is more variable than almost any other. At times real estate is wholly unsaleable, no matter what its real value or its price may be. At other times it is the object of the wildest speculation, with a very little reference to the present legitimate demand. As a consequence when real estate is not wanted, it sells for a song or not at all; but when it is wanted, there is scarcely any limit to its price. Hence, long-headed men are always on the alert to get possession of real estate after every period of great depression; to such shrewd purchases the whole or great part of almost every colossal fortune may be traced. We are just emerging from a period of unexampled prostration. The price of real estate has fallen, as it usually does at such times, in greater ratio than that of almost any other class of property of substantial character. Now, if ever, the purchase of real estate may be considered certain to yield exceptionally large profits, if the property is judiciously selected.

Another fact, which, as a general one no intelligent man will deny, is that the advance in the price, as a rule, is certain to be greater in Western than in Eastern real estate. Western States and cities are growing rapidly; Eastern slowly. Every man knows the fact, and immense volumes of statistics could be given to prove or illustrate it; and yet there are some men who refuse to admit the obvious consequence. New York City is growing in population at the rate of seven per cent. in five years, and the State at the rate of 7.2 per cent., while Chicago or St. Louis gains 50 or 60 per cent., and Kansas 100 per cent., and yet some persons refuse to see that the value of property in the Western city or State is certain to increase in the long run, and, as a rule, more rapidly than the Eastern. New railroads and greater reduction in the rates of freight are constantly adding enormously to the value of Western property, and as yet so potent are interested motives in blinding men, that there are some who still insist that real estate loans in Western cities and States, as a rule, are less safe than loans on Eastern property, where multiplication of roads is slow, and tends mainly to divert residents and industries from cities that are already over-crowded.—New York Public.

IT HAS been proven by direct comparison that objects which are white by sunlight appear yellowish under the electric light, and red when seen by gas-light. "The illusion," says Dr. Werner Siemens, "arises from our being accustomed to see the earth readily illuminated after sunset, and on this basis forming a different scale of colors for ourselves. Daylight would accordingly by night appear still bluer than the electric light. This false idea would disappear if electric illumination became general."

A Plea for the Nose-Ring.

The National Indian Association's Journal contains a curious communication from the pen of Hamid Ali, entitled "A Plea for the Nose-Ring." This ornament, called in India the "nuth," is commended by the learned writer as a most charming ornament, adding much to the attractions of the ladies, who now wear it in a great many parts of India. The ring is described as being made of gold or silver, according to the means of the wearer, and measuring nearly four inches in circumference. It has one or two pearls strung upon it, and is fixed in this manner on the nose: One end of the metal is passed through a hole bored inside about the middle of the right nostril of the nose, and is then inserted into a small cavity in the other end of the metal destined to receive it. It is the exclusive privilege of married women to wear this decoration, but single ladies console themselves by wearing an inferior substitute for it about one-third of the size. If the ring is lost the hole in the nostril is apt to close up; and the young ladies whose rings are mislaid have a way of putting dried grass into the aperture to keep it open. The boring of the nostril generally takes place when the girl is about five or six years old. A company assemble and sweetmeats are distributed, the patient receiving the lion's share, and being encouraged by well-meant comments on the part of spectators. The "nuth" was originally a purely Hindoo ornament, but is now worn by Mahometans also, especially in the Northwestern provinces. "It gives," as Hamid Ali contends, "such an elegance and charm to the face, as it hangs from the nose and kisses the lips, as cannot be secured in any other way. And, to do it full justice, it makes the face look much more beautiful and attractive than a pound of powder and a full hour's making up of the eyes and the hair toilet of some English ladies could possibly do, leaving the waste of time and money in the latter case out of the question."

A Well-Developed Ear.

Kosciusko Murphy, who is remarkable for his large, generous ears, has had a falling-out with Miss Esmerelda Longcoffin, towards whom he had been suspected of entertaining matrimonial intentions. Somebody asked him the other day why he and Miss Longcoffin were not out buggy-riding as much as usual, to which Kosciusko replied that he did not propose to pay buggy hire for any woman who called him a donkey.

"I can't believe that Miss Longcoffin would call any gentleman a donkey?" was the reply.

"Well, she didn't come right out and say I was a donkey, but she might just as well have said so. She hinted that much."

"What did she say?"

"We were out riding, and it looked very much like rain, and I said it was going to rain on us, as I felt a rain-drop on my ear, and what do you suppose she said?"

"I have no idea."

"Well," she said, "that rain you felt on your ear may be two or three miles off."

IT WAS a man from the great State of Ohio who unpinned the tidy from a chair in a Washington parlor and wiped his nose on it. He thought it was a great improvement over hunting around after a handkerchief.

A GEORGIA man traded an old buggy for 600 acres of land some thirty years ago, and the other day he took a trip down to the locality and found a village of 400 inhabitants on the purchase.

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce JAMES P. HARBESON, of Fleming county, as a candidate for Congress, subject to the action of the Democracy in convention assembled.

THE House, on Saturday, passed the river and harbor bill.

A BABY sea lion was born at the Cincinnati Zoological Garden Saturday morning.

THE wheat crop in east Tennessee is nearly harvested, and is the best crop grown there in ten years.

THE meeting of the soldiers of the war of 1812 at Paris, Ky., was attended by eight of the veterans. Dr. Chinn, who was chairman of the meeting stated that fifteen years ago the association had nearly 150 members. A coincidence is that in 1878 there were 35 present, and 35 deaths reported; in 1879, 25 present and 25 deaths; in 1880, 15 present and 15 deaths; 1881, 14 present and 13 deaths, and the present meeting 8 present and 9 deaths.

A BIG subsidy scheme was started last week in the United States Senate by the introduction of a joint resolution providing for the appointment of a commission on the revival of international commerce and the building of steamships suitable for naval purposes. The commission is to inquire into the practicability and expediency of securing the construction in the United States of iron or steel screw steamers, upon such models and with such strength and speed that they may be easily converted into armed ships of war if needed. The commission is to judge of the advisability of encouraging the maintenance of such vessels by means of subsidies. If the government enters this field we shall have the pleasure of yearly chronicling an extra series of log-rolling bills, and possibly a few more "star route investigations."

THE high price of beef all over the country is attributed to four causes. The first is the enormous shipments to Europe. For eight or nine years past the shipments of cattle have averaged 4,000 to 5,000 head per week from the three ports of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. Cattle were being carried away and eaten faster than they were being bred. Not even the vast herds of Texas, Missouri and other parts of the west, can as yet produce cattle enough annually to keep up with the demand, especially if the production is affected by any exceptionally unfavorable circumstances. The second cause is that two winters ago we had a remarkably severe season. It is not an over-estimate to say that fully half a million head of cattle perished that winter from cold and hunger in the west. The third cause is the excessive drouth that prevailed last summer and the summer before. Last summer it was so bad in many cattle growing districts in the west that stock had to be driven six or eight miles daily for water. Of course under such conditions it was impossible to fatten them or put any flesh on them. The best that could be hoped for them was that they would exist. These are the causes named for the present high prices, and are probably the true ones.

NEWS BREVITIES.

The body of Thomas Daly the tenth victim of the Pogue's Run disaster, at Indianapolis, was recovered last Saturday night.

Henry Huddleston, colored, was lynched at Winchester, Tennessee, Sunday night, for raping the widow Vaughn, the night before.

While attempting to board a train of cars at Dayton, O., Sunday, John Stultz, a farmer, was so badly crushed he is not expected to live.

The National Division Sons of Temperance of North America, including the British Provinces and the islands of the seas, will meet at Concord, New Hampshire, on the 12th of July.

In the Vienna chess tournament the score of the leading competitors, after thirty-six rounds, stands: Mackenzie, Steinitz and Winawere 21½ each, Mason, 21, Zuckertort 20½, Blackburne, 18½, Ware 10.

A son of John Woods, of Rochester, Pa., who had been missing for several days was found drowned in the river, at that place, Sunday. A sister, afflicted with heart disease, died from grief at her brother's mysterious absence.

Harry, only son of ex-congressman Finley, of Bucyrus, Ohio, committed suicide, Sunday morning, by shooting himself in the head. He was a graduate at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, and has held the position of Midshipman in the navy until a short time before his death, when he resigned.

Enterprising urchins in New York City, are engaged in gathering cigar stumps from the sidewalks and gutters, which they sell to persons who dry and afterwards use them in the manufacture of cigarettes. These facts were developed in a case before Justice White, at the Harlem police court, lately.

The Parnell-Dillon Land League, of St. Louis, at a meeting a Sunday, adopted the following resolution: "That we tender to our sister leaguers of Cleveland every encouragement in their struggles against a prejudiced clergy as well as plundering landlords, and earnestly beseeching them to stand firmly by their country and their God, regardless of any vulgar tirades, even when mouthed in the robes of abused religion."

Latest advices from the section traversed by the cyclone, in Iowa, are of the most distressing character. At Grinnell both buildings of the Iowa College were blown down, and about one-third of the houses in the place were wrecked or badly damaged. The number of persons killed are estimated at one hundred, and there are about one hundred and fifty badly injured now under the care of physicians. From Malcon similar reports are received, seven dead bodies having been recovered, and many reported badly hurt. Railway trains were blown from the track and demolished, and houses and barns carried before the wind and scattered in every direction.

Michael Davitt arrived at New York Saturday night on the steamship Germanic. Owing to the delay in the arrival of the steamer, the public demonstration arranged in his honor was dispensed with. To reporters who called upon him he defined his position on the Irish question, and explained the object of his visit as two-fold: first, to contradict rumors of a split in the Land League movement, or likelihood of there being a difference between Parnell and himself; second, to explain the work done in Ireland by the Ladies' Land League in sustaining of the evicted people, building of houses and maintaining in law courts of tenants' rights. His plans include a series of twelve lectures in the principal cities, under the auspices of a committee of the Land League. Davitt will return at the expiration of two weeks in order to hold a conference with Parnell and other leaders, after the passage of the Coercion Bill.

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William, (an Indian remedy,) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. William's Pile Ointment; I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. FOR reason given in his card printed elsewhere, Judge Wall thinks Mason county ought not, at this time, offer a candidate for congress, and therefore answers negatively the flattering calls made upon him by his numerous friends to enter the race. It is a manly communication and reflects credit upon the writer.

THE bids of contractors for the construction of the new jail will be opened at Judge Wall's office on Thursday, by the committee. Thus far bids have been received from four firms in Indiana, Ohio, and Kentucky, respectively. Work will begin on the building about the first of July, and is expected to be finished by the first of February, 1883.

MRS. LOUISA V. ALDRICH, an old and well known citizen of Mason county, died at Washington, on the 17th inst., at the age of seventy-six years. She was the wife of Mr. David Aldrich, and the daughter of William Brooks, one of the early settlers of the county. She was born in a block house opposite Brook's bar and has lived in this neighborhood all of her life.

Hon. Garrett S. Wall Declines to be a Candidate for Congress.

MAYSVILLE, KY., June 20, 1882.

Ed. Bulletin: In answer to the calls that have been made upon me, to make the race for Congress in the 9th district, I would say that, signed as they were, by many of the truest and best democrats of the city and county, I can but consider them as a high compliment, and a flattering expression of confidence, and I would be untrue to myself and untrue to that laudable spirit of ambition, inherent in Kentuckians, were I not to consider it a high honor, and one to be coveted, to be called to represent this district.

But, whilst I thank my friends for the very substantial calls, and the press, in and out of the district, for its kindly notices of me, I must differ with them, as to the propriety of my making the race at this time.

The district has complimented the county of Mason, for the last four years, by selecting and electing her talented son, the Hon. E. C. Phister, and since his declination it seems but just, according to the usages of the party, that the nominee should come from some other county. Recognizing this custom, and being about to retire from official life, after twelve years of service, my wish is for the present to devote my entire time to the calls of my profession, always holding myself ready, however, to work for the interest and nominees of the democracy.

GARRETT S. WALL.

Seaman Coming.

Our citizens will no doubt be gratified to know that Baron Hartwig Seeman, the greatest illusionist of the day, will appear at Washington Opera House on Monday June 26th in his choicest programme. No such entertainment as will be presented has ever been given in this city. The programme is new from beginning to end and will delight every body. Beside the evening performance there will be a matinee in the afternoon for the benefit of those from the city and county who may be unable to attend at night. For prices of admission, see the advertisement elsewhere.

The Courier-Journal, March 28, 1882, says: "Seeman has been delighting his audiences with an exhibition of magic and dissolving views truly wonderful and beautiful. He has proved his right to rank among the first of magicians. In some respects Louisville has never seen his equal."

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. Chas. D. Sulser attended the closing exercises of the Millersburg Female Academy, recently and seems to have very much enjoyed his visit. It is reported that a certain Millersburg belle will probably draw him back to the "burg" again soon.

Mrs. E. Bell, is visiting at Mt. Olivet.
Services at Two Lick Church, last Saturday and Sunday.

There has been quite a boom in the tobacco trade the past week. J. Hinson sold at 16 cents, G. W. Kabler 15½ and 5 cents, Wm. Woodward, at 18 and 5 cents, Wesley Woodward 14 and 6 cents, A. Woodward, at 14 and 5 cents. J. Hamilton of Brooksville, bought the three latter crops and D. C. Frazer the two former crops.

HOMO.

STONE LICK.
Harvest is approaching.

On account of the appearance of rain on last Sunday, the attendance was small at Stone Lick.

Mrs. Case, her daughter Mattie and Miss Lizzie Wickoff, were visiting at Plumville last Saturday and Sunday.

Better late than never, Sunday school was organized at Stone Lick last Sunday. Superintendents, Mr. Holliday and Billie Darnell. Time of meeting is 9 o'clock a.m.

A tobacco barn belonging to the widow Smith caught fire last Thursday from a spark from where there had been trash burning, also some tobacco. All burned to ashes.

One of our young men a few evenings since, in racing with another gentleman was thrown from his horse, but not seriously injured by the fall but by riding bare back.

Two of our young men fancied racing to be a nice thing on bare back, and while under a good headway, the faster trotter thought to change the programme by jumping and kicking which threw the rider to the ground, he suffered no pain only from the ride.

The proceedings of the conference were spirited and interesting.

The height, depth, length and breadth of sanctification was freely discussed and many intelligent ministers gave this holiness dogma deep incisions. On the whole they are a fine looking body of men.

The proceedings are instructive and well attended.

Lewis county will be represented at the Mason Sunday School Convention.

Mrs. Col. W. S. Rand was visiting Manchester and enjoying the princely hospitalities of Thomas Bigger's family the past week.

Last Friday, one hundred and fifty copies of the DAILY BULLETIN were sold in Vanceburg. Penny paper was something new and met with very ready sale.

Dr. Stevenson of Augusta, made or read a letter of an hour and a half duration addressed to the Bishop concerning the condition of the M. E. Church. In the South before the conference, his figures may do, but his opinions have widened the breach between the churches. The members of his own church take issue with his radical utterances. His terms of uniting the churches are for the M. E. Church, South, to go over soul and body to the Bishops of the M. E. Conference unconditionally.

The Methodist Sunday School, South, were honored with distinguished sense of Hon. Judge Cole, Gen. Vaneleave, Rev. Wright Col. Rand, Prof. Taylor, assisting last Sunday. The school leads in music and numbers. In the afternoon General Vaneleave, addressed the united Sunday schools of the city.

Dr. Savage and wife of the American Bible Society and Women's Missionary Work, are holding large audiences at Vanceburg at the present time.

Colonel Smith Hurt, of Owingsville, is shaking through the state of Lewis, as a democratic candidate for congress. The soldiers under the colonel's command will go for him.

Dr. Browning, of Flemington, is in the state of Lewis. He has practiced for a long time in the county and is known to be the biggest little man in all Kentucky. If the doctor is the fortunate nominee, the state of Lewis will give him a rousing vote. Aside from this the doctor and your correspondent are life-time friends.

SILK CULTURE IN SCOTO.

A Lady has 400,000 Silk Worms at Work.

Portsmouth Times.

Mrs. George Lowry, who lives on the pike just North of the city, assisted by her daughter, has been experimenting in silk culture this spring, with highly satisfactory results.

Some time since she received an ounce of eggs from Philadelphia, for which she paid $5. She kept them cool for some time by means of ice, to retard their development, owing to the backwardness in the growth of the mulberry.

During the past week the worms have been spinning rapidly in boxes which Mrs. Lowry had prepared. It is estimated that 400,000 of these animals have been busily at work producing three colors of silk.

It is a great curiosity to those who have never seen the silk worm at his work, to witness them spinning the beautiful threads from which the richest fabrics are made, and many have called to watch them weave their webs of wealth. It requires much care and attention to provide these myriads of workers with food, which consists of the leaves of the mulberry tree and to keep their workshops in order, and to properly preserve their silken threads. When their work is done the worm is ready to die, and they are usually stifled to prevent them from injuring their webs. Mrs. Lowry will probably realize $200 on her venture, as she richly deserves to do.

It is believed that at no distant day silk culture will be an important pursuit in this county.

It is said that land planted in mulberry trees will yield $140 to $200 an acre in return for a small amount of labor, which can be performed by women as well as men.

Four hundred Russians who refuse to do manual labor are to be sent back from New York to their own country.

At Findley, Ohio, Sunday, Philip Yost, a laboring man, was run over by cars and killed.

The following is reported as the probable composition of the new Egyptian Ministry: Ragheb Pasha will take the portfolio of Finance; Ahmed Raschid, Minister of the Interior; Zulfikar Pasha, Minister of Justice; Zetki Pasha, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Arabi Pasha, Minister of War.

Preaching by Weight.

The question is agitated among church-going people, "Why are so many learned ministers poor preachers?" The trouble is that many of the learned ones are content to load themselves with mighty stores of knowledge, never thinking of how they are to benefit their fellow men by giving it out. Unfortunately, some of our most learned clergymen are the driers of preachers. To learn or practice the ordinary arts of oratory does not seem to have occurred to these good men. The art of pleasing their audiences is something to which they can not conveniently descend. Perhaps they despise it because there are so many empty-headed men who have succeeded in holding their congregations spell-bound. They may think that to interest an audience is an evidence of sensationalism. Therefore, they are content to plod on in the delivery of matter which is really valuable, but which loses its value because uttered in such a lifeless fashion.

One of our most learned preachers used to have a habit of meandering along in a sing-song monotone for the first fifteen minutes of his discourse. The effect on strangers was to weary them or put them to sleep, under the impression that the whole discourse was to be delivered in this style. On those who were accustomed to hearing him it was different. They knew he would have something of interest for them, and waited for it. After a while he would wake up to a most earnest style of delivery and continue in it to the end of his sermon.

Some great scholars are so pompous that they can not preach as if to ordinary mortals. Some preach fairly well, but, because they are such great men, do not stop short of an hour and a half. This may impress the weary hearers with a sense of greatness, but at the same time oppresses them with the ponderousness of it.

Learning and good oratory are not necessarily out of harmony with each other. There is no reason why a learned person should not add to his other accomplishments the art of imparting his wisdom to others in the most graceful, attractive, and convincing way.—Philadelphia Times.

Pathos and Sentiment.

There is always on the stage a risk in pathetic situations, for the "illusion of the stage" is a thing so much more talked about than felt. Thus great effects in pathos are almost always reached in a single sentence, a word sometimes, even a tone, a gesture. Long speeches, protracted situations, rarely touch the heart, partly because the actors can not keep themselves for so long to the proper pitch, partly because the spectators can not keep up their sympathy so long for what they know—though a flash of genius may make them for an instant forget it—to be but fictitious woe. Thus pathos, no matter how beautiful its expression, to be truly effective on the stage, to be truly effective anywhere in fiction, should always be brief. And it should always be born, not made. Brevity and naturalness are the essential qualities of pathos. When it lacks these two it becomes sentiment. The moment we begin to reason about it, the moment we begin to ask ourselves whether this could really have happened this way or that, then we may know that pathos has left the scene and sentiment comes on. To hunt in highways and byways for a sigh, to exhaust nature and art for a tear, is the only act of the man who has no feeling for the real sorrows of humanity. Even where one finds a trace of pathos, how often does it not lose half its effect, become finally lost by repetition? The nail is hammered again and again until the head is knocked away and the point blunted. "It was always," says Falstaff, "the trick of our English nation if they have a good thing to make it too common." Yet where can one find such mastery of pathos as in him who drew "Falstaff?" All the French and German sentiment that was ever printed might be wiped off the face of the earth while there remains the

"Do not laugh at me," of "Lear," the

"O, Iago, the pity of it, Iago," of "Othello," and "Hamlet's"

"The rest is silence."

BATCHELDER'S

Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensable to Merchants Shippers
And Producers.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case without rehandling.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, addling, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.
